RSB members are innovators and pioneers on a journey towards a bio-based and circular economy.

From growers and producers of next-generation fuels and materials to the end-users, blenders and investors of these products, from non-profit social organisations to non-governmental environmental organisations, and from high-level public policy institutions to academia and research institutions.

They are lighting the way for a global sustainability movement.

RSB membership offers a platform for leaders to activate their ambition for the just and sustainable transition to a bio-based and circular world.
As a RSB member, you will have exclusive access to RSB platforms and initiatives, webinars and events, and knowledge-building opportunities for your entire team. You will benefit from association with the world’s most trusted and credible sustainability standard for the bio-based and circular economy, and have direct input into the continued development of the RSB Standard.

Other key benefits:

- Develop capacity, knowledge, and skills in the sustainable bio-based and circular economy.
- Attend RSB’s annual calendar of webinars and global events for free.
- Align your sustainability ambition with the leading sustainability foundation for the bio-based and circular economy across a holistic framework of climate, environmental and social issues.
- Demonstrate your commitment to sustainability.
- Shape the development of the world’s most trusted sustainability framework for the bio-based and circular economy.
- Take part in cutting edge discussions via RSB’s member-exclusive platforms and initiatives.
- Gain priority access to RSB’s projects and programmes, participating in the development of new initiatives.
- Expand your network, engaging and collaborating with leaders and pioneers across sectors.

What do our members say?

“Procter & Gamble is very pleased to become a member of the RSB. As a company, our long-term vision is to use 100% renewable or recycled materials for our products and packaging. As we move to replace petroleum-based materials with renewable ones, sustainable sourcing will be key to ensuring our products are truly renewable for generations to come. Partnering with RSB will help us to maintain the highest standards of sustainable sourcing as we embark on this journey.”
– Virginie Helias, VP Sustainability, Procter & Gamble

“The Roundtable on Sustainable Biomaterial’s (RSB) rigorous sustainability criteria are the reason we have chosen to work with them in South Africa, to ensure that the development of aviation biofuel feedstocks safeguards against potential impacts on the environment and provides maximum community benefits.”
– James Reeler, Land and Climate Change Specialist, WWF South Africa

“GE Aviation is excited to join RSB, which is helping enable the aviation industry’s transition to lower-carbon sustainable aviation fuel in place of fossil-based jet fuels. We are committed to a more sustainable future of flight and look forward to working with RSB to support policies that encourage broader adoption of SAF while ensuring fuels are sourced responsibly.”
– Allen Paxson, Vice President of Commercial Program Strategy, GE Aviation

To ensure a balance between business interests and the interests of civil society, RSB members are organised into five Chambers.

The five Chambers elect the Assembly of Delegates who are the governing body of the organisation.

The Assembly of Delegates appoints a Board of Directors to set strategy and provide oversight to the Secretariat.

The Secretariat is responsible for the day-to-day running of the organisation.
Our global membership is highly diverse
A wide range of organisations across supply chains, regions and industries

Applying for RSB membership is simple:

1. Complete the Application Form on our website.
2. Write a cover letter. Use the template included in the application form or create your own.
3. Submit any time via the RSB website.

Applications are reviewed on an ongoing basis by the RSB Board of Directors.

The Secretariat will acknowledge receipt of your application and inform you once it has been approved – usually within 10 days of application.

Should you have any questions regarding RSB membership or your application, please feel free to contact the RSB Secretariat at info@rsb.org.
All Chamber 3 members are exempted from membership fees.

Members of other chambers that are unable to pay their membership fees may submit a request for a fee waiver, including any in-kind contributions they can make in lieu of fees. These can include:

- Support work / working hours
  (e.g. research on scientific issues, policies, lobbying, etc.)
- Contribution to the organisation of meetings
  (i.e. providing venue, meals, etc)
- Contribution to travel expenses for meeting participants
  (e.g. flights, hotels)
- Enrolment of new Participating Operators in the RSB certification process
  (i.e. helping an operator to become certified)
- Promotion of RSB
  (e.g. content marketing, events, introductions, etc.)
- Taking up a position within the RSB governance structure
  (e.g. Delegate, Director)

Membership fee waivers are granted for 1 year and are reviewed annually. Annual renewals are required.
